

Attorney Harris “Writing” Article Published

Attorney Maria E. Harris, recently had an article published in The Legal Intelligencer. The article, “The Significance of Writing in the Legal Setting” was published in the “Young Lawyers Supplement” to The Legal Intelligencer on Tuesday, January 22.

In the article, Maria talks about being an attorney and why the ability to write, proficiently, is imperative. “Writing in the law is a form of art – advocacy in its most creative form. The goal is to paint a pathway that leads to an obvious conclusion, one that the reader could and should have reached on his or her own when given the same information.”

Maria Harris is an attorney with Martin Law, focusing her practice on Social Security and ERISA or long-term disability. She was recently elected the vice chair of the young lawyers division of the Philadelphia Bar Association.